Toledo, OHIO, is situated in the beautiful and historical valley of the Maumee; has a population of 100,000; is 24 square miles in extent; covered in all directions by 90 miles of efficient electric street railway service. The city is devoted to manufacturing and commercial industries, possessing with its 21 railways and several miles of river front accessible to the largest lake craft, unrivaled advantages as a distributing center. These advantages have made it the largest market in the world for winter wheat and clover seed, and an extensive distributing point for coal and pine lumber. With 650 acres, including over a mile of river front, devoted to park purposes, together with many summer and lake resorts; 85 miles of improved streets, largely asphalt; the residence portions widely separated from the commercial and manufacturing districts, Toledo is especially desirable as a residence city.
